Craft Instructions

Cardboard Tube Blossom Tree

Supplies

- Scissors
- Brown paint
- Shallow tray or plate
- Paintbrush
- Pink or white tissue paper/ crepe paper
- PVA glue
- Cardboard tube

1 First, you need to paint the tube brown. Pour a little brown paint onto a tray or plate, to limit any mess and use a brush to make sure that all of your branches are covered with paint. Remember to paint inside the top of the tube as well. Leave it to dry.

2 Make several cuts down the sides of one end of the tube. These will make the branches of your tree; how far you cut will depend on the length of your tube. Take your time and keep checking as you cut to ensure that you aren't cutting too far down.

3 Once you are happy with your cuts, gently press down and open out the pieces you have just cut. Now you have a tree shape!

4 Next, carefully scrunch and roll some small pieces of tissue paper or crepe paper into little blossoms.

5 Carefully dab a little glue along the ends of the branches and stick the blossom on. Then allow to dry.
